Admiralty-Office, Auguſt 27, 1799.

Extract of a Letter from Admiral Lord Duncan, Commander in Chief of His Majeſty's Ships and Veſſels in the North Sea, to Evan Nepean, Eſq; dated at Sea the 21ſt Inſtant.

BY the incloſed Letters their Lordſhips will ſee the little Squadron under Captain Sotheron's Orders have not been idle. I ſhall not trouble their Lordſhips with a Comment on the Gallantry and Exertions of the Officers and Men employed on that Service by Captain Sotheron, as it ſpeaks for itſelf; and ſhall only ſay I think Captain Mackenzie and Captain Boorder deſerve the Attention of their Lordſhips, as does Lieutenant Searle of the Courier, and other Officers that have diſtinguiſhed themſelves.

His Majeſty's Ship Pylades, between the Iſland of Schiermonikoog and the Main Land of Holland, Auguſt 12, 1799.

SIR,

AS you muſt have obſerved the greateſt Part of our Proceedings Yeſterday, I have little more to do than inform you that every Officer and Man behaved very much to my Satisfaction. We found the Navigation very difficult, from the Wind being nearly right down; at Times there was not Two Feet Water more than this Ship draws, and the Channel is ſo narrow there was not Room to go more than twice our Length.

The Service is much indebted to Mr. William Gray, Maſter of this Ship, whom I had previouſly ſent to ſound, and who took Charge of her up alongſide of the Craſh Dutch Gun-Veſſel.

Lieutenant Searle of the Courier Cutter, from working faſt to Windward, I ordered to engage her until this Ship or L'Eſpiegle ſhould get up, which he did in the moſt gallant Manner, conſidering ſhe is Five Times the Cutter's Force.

The Dutch Officer fought the Craſh a great Deal longer than I imagined he would have done, as this Ship and L'Eſpiegle were a great Part of the Time within Half Piſtol-Shot; both Veſſels have received conſiderable Damage in their Rigging and Yards. The Boats, previous to the Ships getting into Action, were ſent to attack the large Gun-Schooner which lay to the Eaſtward of a Sand, but ſhe run on Shore, keeping up a heavy Fire on the Boats, by which One Man was killed in the Juno's Cutter. This Ship had One Man killed and Three wounded.

The Craſh's Force is Twelve Carronades of Thirty-two, Twenty-four, and Eighteen Pounders, and Sixty Men.

Thinking it for the Good of His Majeſty's Service to fit and man the Craſh for the Purpoſe of acting againſt the Enemy's remaining Force, I have appointed Lieutenant Slade, Firſt of the Latona, to command her.

One of the Enemy's Gun Schooners is hauled on Shore on the Main, the other called the Vengeance of Six heavy Guns, Two of them long Twenty-four-Pounders, and Seventy Men, with a large Row-Boat, is under a Battery of Six heavy Guns, on the Iſland of Schiermonikoog, where I am informed there are Three Hundred armed Men; if I can find Water, you may depend on my attacking them.

I have the Honor to be, &c. &c. &c.

A. M'KENZIE.

Frank Sotheron, Eſq;
&c. &c. &c.

His Majeſty's Sloop Pylades, between the Iſland of Schiermonikoog, and the Main Land of Holland, 14th Auguſt, 1799.

SIR,

IN my Letter to you of the 12th Inſtant I informed you of my Intention to attack the Enemy's Force on Schiermonikoog; I ſent Mr. Gray to ſound, which he did with great Diligence, and fortunately found a ſmall Channel; in the mean Time being in Want of Veſſels for Gun-Boats, I diſpatched the Boats under Lieutenants Campbell and Humphreys at High Water, to endeavour to cut out a Schoot or Two, from under the Protection of the Schooner on the Main, they could only get at Two, One of them was burnt, the other brought away, although the Schooner kept up a well-directed Fire: I directly had her fitted with Two Twelve Pound Carronades, called her the Undaunted, and gave Command of her to Lieutenant Humphreys, of the Juno: at Three o'Clock Yesterday Afternoon, I ordered the Vessels to move on to the Attack, viz.

The Crash, Lieutenant Slade and Mr. Moody, Master of the Juno, Twelve Carronades.

Undaunted, Lieutenant Humphreys, Two Twelve Pound Carronades, with Lieutenant M'Donald, of the Marines.

Latona's Launch, Lieutenant Campbell, One Twelve Pound Carronade.

Pylades's Launch, Lieutenant Cowan, One Twelve Pound Carronade.

Pylades's Cutter, Mr. Ryan, acting Lieutenant, and all the other small Boats, some with Swivels, others only small Arms. The Courier Cutter was intended to cover them, but unfortunately grounded, and it was with great Exertion she was saved; they went on 'till they grounded within Half Pistol-Shot of the Shore, under a heavy Fire from the Schooner and Battery, and latterly small Arms, but when they got a little placed, their Fire soon drove the Enemy from their Batteries, and the People of the Schooner finding Lieutenants Humphreys and Campbell going to board her, all run on Shore; having set Fire to her, which was found impossible to be extinguished, she was therefore burnt.

I am unable, as no Person was taken belonging to her, to state her Loss of Men, but it must have been considerable. While that was doing, Lieutenant Cowan landed and spiked the Guns on the Enemy's Battery, and, with getting more Assistance from all that could land, brought off Two Brass Field Pieces, and spiked another Twelve-Pounder. The Row-Boat and Twelve Schoots are taken. I have given Orders for all the Vessels to collect round this Ship: I am much obliged to Mr. Hatfull, Purser of the Latona, who, with Mr. Cowan, Surgeon of this Ship, and Mr. Smith, Surgeon of L'Espiegle, with several others, were Volunteers on this Business.

I could not indulge every one who requested to go, in particular Mr. Rhode, Purser of this Ship, as almost all the other Officers were gone, and it was absolutely necessary to have some Persons on board I could depend upon for a Reason I will hereafter explain to you

What is most extraordinary, we have not lost One Man killed or wounded: a great Deal of Merit is due to Lieutenant Slade, who commanded the Whole; and in short to every Officer and Man employed.

It would afford me great Pleasure if I could without a Breach of Delicacy, when mentioning an Officer of equal Rank, inform you of the Abilities of Captain Boorder, and the Assistance I have received from him.

I have the Honor to be, &c. &c. &c.

A. MACKENZIE.

Frank Sotheron, Esq; Captain of His Majesty's Ship Latona.

Latona, at Anchor off the Buoy at the Entrance between Schiermonikoog and Ameland, August 14, 1799.

I Informed your Lordship we meditated an Attack on the Enemy with the Ships you were pleased to place under my Orders, whenever we found an Opportunity. I have to transmit Two Letters I have received from Captain Mackenzie. It is impossible for me to express by Words the high Sense I have of his, Captain Boorder's, and Lieutenant Searle's Conduct. I mention their Names as being Commanders of Ships who had the Honor to be acting on this Occasion. The more this Attack is enquired into, the more I am convinced it will redound to the Credit of His Majesty's Arms. Captain Mackenzie will deliver this Packet, than whom a more deserving gallant Officer does not exist; and he has now requested me to make particular Mention of his Brother Officer Captain Boorder, to whom he attributes great Part of his Success. I am happy to say he makes most honourable Mention of my Friend and First Lieutenant, Mr. Slade, who is upon all Occasions a truly deserving and active Officer. The Juno and Latona not being able to act, I may without Vanity say, as we were only Spectators, it has been as gallant an Atchievement as has ever been remembered.

F. SOTHERON.

Right Honorable Lord Viscount Duncan, &c. &c. &c.

Extract of the Vienna Gazette of the 10th August, 1799.

ACCOUNTS of the 31st July have been received from His Royal Highness the Archduke Charles, which state, that on the 29th the Enemy attacked the Chain of Posts entrusted to the Care of General Kienmager, near Brinder Zell and Wehr, with a Body of Four Thousand Men; but without Success.

On the same Day the Garrison of Old Brisac made an Attack upon our Out-Posts in that Neighbourhood, for the Purpose of carrying away the Grain that had been cut the Night before at Ginglingen, Upper and Lower Rimsingen, Irringen, Achbaan, and Rothweil; but the Enemy was driven back with Loss by General Ginlay, who had the whole Harvest removed behind this Line of Out-Posts.

Our Loss in the Two Affairs is trifling.

Extract of the Vienna Extraordinary Gazette of the 11th August, 1799.

THE State of the Magazines that the French had collected at Mantua was not completely ascertained at the Departure of Baron Kray (the General's Son), but all Accounts concur in representing them as very considerable.

The Garrison of Mantua consisted of Six Thousand Six Hundred and Twenty-two French, Six Hundred and One Cisalpines, and Four Hundred and Sixty Seven Swiss, and of about One Thousand Galicians, partly Deserters and partly Prisoners, whom the French had persuaded to serve in their Army. These latter have been sent back to their respective Regiments. And the Swiss and Cisalpine Commanders have declared their Determination not only not to return to France, but to quit the Service of the French Republic.

About One Thouſand Two Hundred and Twenty Sick remain at Mantua, who are to be ſent to France as ſoon as they are able to perform the Journey.

Six Hundred and Sixty-five Cannon, Mortars, Howitzers, &c. were taken in the Fortreſs of Mantua, as well as Twelve Thouſand Nine Hundred and Fifty-nine Stand of ſmall Arms, beſides One Thouſand Two Hundred and Sixty Piſtols and Doppelhaken.

The Loſs of His Imperial Majeſty's Troops during the Courſe of the Siege amounts to Seventy-ſeven killed and Two Hundred and Thirty-five wounded.

According to Accounts received from General Melas, and dated the 1ſt of Auguſt, the neceſſary Preparations for the Siege of Tortona were carrying on with great Activity, ſo much ſo that the General thinks it not unlikely that the Siege of that Fortreſs may be actually begun.
